

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL POLICE" was the heading on a circular we received in the mail this week.

Although there was no name on the circular, it was specified that it was being distributed as a public service by "Saratoga-Campbell Committee to Support Your Local Police, P. O. Box 162, Saratoga, Calif."

The message emphasized opposition to the establishment of Police Review Boards and urged citizens to set the record straight on unjust criticisms leveled against law enforcement agencies.

THE MESSAGE pointed out that law enforcement can succeed and law and order can be maintained only if law enforcement agencies have the complete support and cooperation of society.

We concede that there may be a lessening of respect for law enforcement agencies throughout the country.

Although the circular was apparently mailed in Campbell and specified it was from the "Saratoga-Campbell Committee", we have failed to note any particular lack of support of the police in our own community.

WE APPRECIATE, of course, that this "crusade" is part of a nationwide movement. Basically it is commendable.

But we would like to know more about the make-up of this particular Saratoga-Campbell group, inasmuch as Campbell has its own police department and Saratoga operates under a contract with the sheriff's department.

The basic point is, of course, that police throughout the nation are today faced with a difficult problem of combating deliberately instigated riots which have destroyed lives and property.

Whatever they do they will probably be accused of using the wrong approach and tactics. It will be hard for them "to make points" no matter what they do.

The "committee" has a real job to do; but openly and above board.

Next time, fellows, you send any stuff to us, let us know who is on the sending end.

We have no objections in standing up and being counted in this matter.

But we also would like to know who else is on their feet with us.

PERIODICALLY we run across an interesting tidbit in other newspapers.

Here is one that recently appeared in the Los Gatos Times-Observer under the by-line of Oliver King, that paper's courthouse correspondent:

Expressway 'philosophy' gets blast

What benefits, if any, Campbell would derive from the contemplated "Phase II" of the county expressway program to be financed by a $112 million countywide bond issue provoked a series of blasts at both the "philosophy" and "policy" of the entire program at the Planning Commission meeting Monday.

Preliminary estimates call for more than $2 million to be spent on the San Tomas Expressway as Campbell's "share" of the county melon. Most of this money would go for a Hamilton expressway interchange and the addition of two more lanes to the present four-lane road.

Commissioners took turns raising questions about whether it was to the city's benefit to add lanes to hurry traffic through town or even to improve the Hamilton intersection.

On Aug. 22, the City Council has scheduled an informal public hearing on the Phase II proposal as submitted by the County Public Works Department.

Members of the Planning Commission had been asked to make recommendations at the council meeting. The council, in turn, has been asked to present this city's reaction to the proposed program to the county committee by Sept. 1. Commissioner Kel Young began the attack after Bill Wren, city engineer, had outlined some of the basic points contained in the proposed Phase II draft.

NO BOOKS Young was particularly incensed because so few copies of the bulky expressway document were available for perusal by the commissioners. (He was assured by Dick Hogan, planning director, that additional copies would be distributed this week.)

Young's persistent efforts to find some relationship between the expressway program and the city's plans for street improvements almost caused a minor rift between him and the city engineer, Wren. But acting Chairman Jack Healey soon clarified the situation and the other commissioners then took up their individual cudgels against the 'concept', 'philosophy' and 'monetary distribution' of the entire expressway program.

City Council to set tax rate on Monday

Campbell's City Council next Monday, Aug. 8, will take the final step for the new year by officially setting the tax rate and specifying how much income is needed from the property tax to operate the city.

The council, however, had agreed that the tax rate will remain the same as now in effect, $1.27, so the action will be routine.

Officially, setting the tax rate has to wait on the final figures for the assessed valuation of the city which this year totals $39,747,760 only a 2.7 per cent increase from last year.

Fire Chief George Maxwell will be sitting in the city manager's chair for next Monday's council meeting in the absence of City Manager Bob Stephens who is on vacation. Maxwell has been designated to act as city manager when Stephens

Expressway hearing

Financing and building an extensive expressway system in the county that will satisfy every section of the county is a complicated and almost impossible problem.

But every effort has to be made to obtain the cooperation and the assistance of all the cities and the county in the ambitious expressway program which is financed from a countywide bond issue.

To maintain some coordination in the program a County Transportation Policy Committee has been established, formerly known as the Trafficways Committee. On this committee representatives of the cities and the county attempt to work out a satisfactory formula for the overall benefit of all the citizens in the county.

Technical sub-committees also have been formed made up of professionals from the staffs of the various agencies involved.

The supervisors, of course, ultimately must approve all the recommendations.

Most of you recall, we are sure, that in Phase I of the county expressway system, financed by a $70 million bond issue, there were many bugs that had to be worked out.

As an example, the route of the San Tomas Expressway which was approved through Campbell by Campbell's City Council specified that Latimer and Rincon avenues would dead-end at the expressway. And this was the route that was built.

Subsequently when many of the citizens of this community realized what effect these dead-ends might have on the community, there was a great hue and cry raised to see if the powers-that-be running the program would modify the plan and allow Latimer and Rincon to cross the expressway.

The City Council fought for the change but the plea was rejected and the San Tomas Expressway as it cuts through town, as you all know, cuts off both Latimer and Rincon.

But the turmoil that was created and the fuss that was raised in the attempt by this city to modify an expressway route that had previously been approved by the city, did much to clear the air.

It made both the average citizen, as well as the city officials, more cognizant of the situation and the importance of examining in detail expressway plans and their ultimate effect on a community.

Now a Phase II Expressway program has been proposed which will be financed by a $112 million countywide bond issue. This issue is tentatively slated to go to the electorate in February, 1967.

We think Campbell has learned its lesson the hard way. The cities of the county have been asked to review the Phase II program and Campbell's City Council has scheduled an informal public hearing at the regular council meeting on August 22.

At this meeting any interested citizens or representatives of organizations will have an opportunity to present their opinion as to the needs of their particular area, or any additional improvements which would be involved in the San Tomas Expressway that now cuts through our city.

We can think of a number of suggestions that possibly should be incorporated in Phase II program to improve San Tomas Expressway.

Whether these suggestions merit being included in the final plan is questionable. Admittedly we are looking at the picture purely from a selfish standpoint as how it affects this community.

For example, many of you will recall that many residents from the west side of town descended on the city council en masse when the expressway was being built. They demanded that the city council do something about putting in pedestrian overpasses so that the youngsters going to and from school could cross the expressway with some degree of safety.

The council explained, of course, that the city could not change the plan that had been approved or could the city finance overpasses by itself.

It also explained that it was unknown whether overpasses could be considered in the Phase II program, but that it would be worth a try.

We suggest that those people who were so irate at the city and feel that overpasses should be an essential part of the overall county expressway system should make themselves heard at the informal public hearing on Aug. 22.

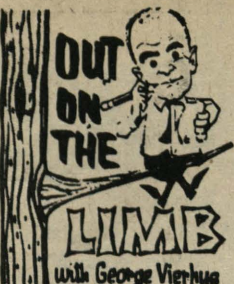

Much discussion has also taken place on the question of whether Hamilton Ave. should go under or over the expressway, if and when traffic warranted it, and the present grade level crossing proves unsatisfactory.

The council has agreed that San Tomas Expressway should go over Hamilton and this is a matter of record. But whether this, too, will be a part of Phase II is problematical.

There are countless other points to be raised; how will the other expressways in the county affect Campbell? if this city gets no expressway through its limits, how much money will be earmarked from the bond issue for improvement of other Campbell Streets?

We think this August 22 hearing is important, if for nothing else than to be informed BEFORE rather than AFTER the work is under way.

CITY ATTORNEY JOE BONACINA at a recent City Council meeting informed the city dads that he had been asked to check into the possibility of drafting ordinances that would control "cats and bees" within the city limits.

Joe bemoaned, in a legalistic way, that he wasn't sure when he could find time to delve into this matter of "cats and bees". He wondered how pressing it was.

Not too, he was informed.

Of course if it were "birds and bees" now that could be a different story.

A RECENT CALLER at The Press was Bert A. Betts, CPA, who is running for reelection as state treasurer, a position to which he was first elected in 1958 and reelected in 1962.

We were out when he and his wife dropped in but he left his card and a press release with the blanks filled in as they pertain to Campbell.

The release reported that the residents of Campbell are $120,750 richer each year because of savings and earnings the Treasurer has developed in programs administered by his department.

The release explained that this sum is Campbell's share of the estimated $98 million he saves and earns annually for Californians.

Restoration of competitive bidding on State bonds and refinements in savings on interest costs and in investing State surplus moneys are responsible for this big saving, according to the news release.

Even if personally we missed State Treasurer Betts, we still appreciate the courtesy of his call and are especially pleased to pass on the information as contained in the press release that Campbell people are richer each year to the tune of $120,750.

We can't recall ever seeing any of this dough coming our way, so we will have to take Betts word for it.

Admittedly this is the season for office-seekers to get on their horses and start making personal calls.

We naturally expect to see a lot of 'em before November.

But Betts has set a fast pace with this $120,750 melon bit.

That will be tough to match, especially by those candidates who don't have anything to do with the state purse strings.

High school district voters approve 35-cent tax increase

Voters in the Campbell Union High School District on Tuesday, July 26, gave an overwhelming endorsement to the 35-cent tax increase request of the trustees.

Although only a 16 per cent vote was recorded, the electorate favored the tax hike by a count of 6,378 to 3,979. Their approval allows the general maximum tax rate to be raised to $1.35 for the next five years.

District officials expressed pleasure with the results and reiterated their statements that their policy would be to hold the tax rate to the lowest level economically possible.

The basic reason the increase was needed, it had been explained, was to raise funds for the staffing and equipping of two additional high schools.

Three other districts in the county held similar elections on the same date and all tax hikes were approved, although by much smaller margins than in Campbell. In Los Gatos the vote was a close 2,258 to 2,071; in Mt. View-Los Altos, 3,915 to 3,400; and in Berryessa it was 490 to 370.

Capt. Crothers, son of Campbell man, wins DFC

Captain Don L. Crothers, son of L. V. Crothers of 1190 Walters Ave., Campbell, Calif., has received the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC), five awards of the Air Medal and the Purple Heart at Clark AB, Philippines.

Captain Crothers, veteran of 230 combat missions, received the DFC for heroic achievement as a B-57 Canberra navigator-bombardier while on temporary duty in Vietnam.

The captain flew to the defense of forces under intense Viet Cong attack at Song Be. When heavy ground fire prevented helicopter evacuation of the wounded, Captain Crothers and his crew pressed their attack despite heavy anti-aircraft fire. Although he was wounded and his jet bomber received numerous hits, Captain Crothers remained at his station until the enemy gun emplacements were silenced.

The captain, recipient of the Purple Heart for his wounds, has received the Air Medal six times for sustained superior airmanship.

'non-expressway cities' get from the bond issue was especially upsetting to the commissioners. These 'benefits' were described by such complimentary terms as "bribes" and "black-mail" offered, it was claimed, in order to get the passage of the bond issue.

Commissioners Ed Pack and Thayer Lyons pointed out that residents of the 'non-expressway cities' used the expressway through Campbell almost as much as Campbell residents.

Under the 'benefit' formula, these cities could get 70 of their "share" of the money to improve streets in their towns.

To emphasize this phase of the program, Commissioner Frank Klein (who had one of the rare books) named some of the streets that had been listed for improvement in the 'non-expressway cities'.

Most of the commissioners seemed to concede that Young's point had merit: That is improving streets for through traffic in preference to the improving of city streets wasn't quite right somehow.

The commission will meet once again before the council holds the hearing on the Phase II proposal.

On Aug. 15, the commissioners will probably attempt to consolidate their criticisms into one recommendation to the council.

This could take some doing.

OTHER ACTIONS In the other actions preceding the expressway discussion, the commission:

--DENIED the request for extension of time to start construction of the Alec Shopping Center at San Tomas and Campbell. Alec G. Land, president of the center, said extra time was needed to find adequate financing.

He objected to any changes in the original plans approved in January, 1964 and stressed that the center built in Fremont by his company was attractive and the same plans would be used for Campbell. He suggested that the commissioners journey to Fremont to view the center.

Acting Chairman Jack Healey explained that this would be difficult to do and suggested that Land bring in photos instead.

The commissioners denied the extension of time. Four previous extensions had been granted.

--APPROVED the plans for an office building at 900 E. Campbell Ave. as submitted by John C. Vierhus.

--APPROVED an illuminated sign for the new Dick's Market at Hacienda and San Tomas.

--APPROVED a public dancing permit for the Straw Hat Pizza Supreme at 1400 W. Campbell Ave.

--APPROVED a zone change from R-1 to R-d (duplex) for lots owned by Pyramid Homes on the south side of the proposed Gale Drive and extended the zone change to include properties of Orlando and Hamilton Enterprises.

--SET AUGUST 15 for the public hearing date on the proposed annexation of property owned by Maclyn Morris on the north side of Union Ave.

West Valley College receives accreditation from commission

Even while operating in a former elementary school, West Valley College has received accreditation for a two-year period from the Accreditation Commission for Junior Colleges of the Western Association of Schools and Colleges.

Dr. Wallace W. Hall, college president, expressed his delight over accreditation, achieved by the college despite "extremely adverse conditions."

Dr. Hall said that the "accreditation is in large measure due to the West Valley college staff and faculty, which have displayed high standards of administration and teaching ability."

IN MAY
 The report from the accreditation team which visited the college campus in May was sent to Dr. Hall by Dr. Gilbert A. Colyer, president, Shasta College, Redding, its chairman.

The report commented favorably on the fact that despite the short period of time West Valley College has been in existence, "the administration and staff has developed in a very short time a basic curriculum to transfer to four-year institutions of higher education and to prepare students in a number of vocational education fields."

Robert W. Brydon, chairman of the Board of Trustees of West Valley College, also expressed gratification at the news of the accreditation, but said that the board "remains aware of the grave problem that we have of trying to operate a first class school in fourth class facilities."

The accrediting team also cited the "predominantly positive" program at the college for transfer of students to four-year colleges...with little or no loss of credit and with good expectations of success at the senior institutions.

TRAINING PROGRAM
 The college was also commended for making "a definite start on occupational training programs...despite facility problems."

Particular commendation were programs in electronics, engineering, technology, business education, police science, home economics and medical assistant training.

The team applauded the "rapid implementation of its extended-day program, and the range of courses offered in subject areas."

Pointing out that "the instructional staff is the heart and life of a college," the team spent "a great deal of time visiting classes and evaluating the instructional staff," the report said.

The team did commend the district for demonstrating "great ingenuity in adapting a former elementary school to serve as a temporary campus for the college."

It said that "a sense of pioneering urgency has helped the staff establish a sound educational program under difficult circumstances."

It pointed out, however, that "emergency measures have a way of becoming intolerable as the time of the emergency is extended."

"It is imperative," the report said, "that a prompt solution be found to the critical problems of providing permanent facilities for the students of West Valley Junior College District."

"The existing facilities," the report continued, "cannot be expected to house over 3,000 day students with efficiency and dignity. Indeed, there already exist acute problems and crucial limitations on the educational program."

The report warned further that the "facility problems of the moment will become completely overwhelming as enrollments rise above 3,000 students."

BOND ISSUE
 It noted the proposed bond issue for a new campus which will be placed on the November ballot, and added that every possible means be taken to assure a prompt start on the construction of a complete new campus...

It also recommended that "the electorate be fully informed that a continuance of the present reliance on temporary facilities will inevitably hamper the program of the college and injure both the students and the community, through curtailment of educational offerings and the impairment of existing programs."

NEW OFFICER-Roger Higby, 22, has been appointed patrolman by the Campbell Police Department. Higby, a Los Gatos High School graduate, attended San Jose City College and was an MP with the U. S. Army for three years in Japan. He was a police cadet in Gilroy and a student police officer in Morgan Hill before joining the army.

Shots fired at Campbell boys

Two Campbell area youth were allegedly forced off the road at Bascom and Campbell avenues by two unidentified men in a 1958 Thunderbird at 3 a.m. last Friday. The pair tried to drive away after exchanging words with their pursuers and backed into a power pole.

As they fled on foot to a nearby orchard for protection, their pursuers fired four shots at them and left. After the police arrived, the two youth were transported to Santa Clara County Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

Campbell Police are investigating.

College board ups monthly rent on Guilbert residence

Trustees of the West Valley College at their last meeting upped the monthly lease payment for the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Guilbert at 110 Latimer from $200 to $215 per month.

The change in the lease, the trustees were informed, was necessary because of a storm drainage fee of $430 that had been levied against the property by the City of Campbell.

The Planning Commission recently approved the use of the residence for offices for the college. A use permit was necessary because such office use is contrary to city ordinances which prohibit residential conversion.

Because of the expanding enrollment, the college has found it necessary to use residences located near the college for offices.

In other actions, the college board:

APPROVED a lease with the Bronco Bench Foundation for the use of Buck Shaw Stadium in Santa Clara for five West Valley College home football games in 1966, at a cost of $200 per game.

APPROVED transfer of $300,000 from the general fund to the special reserve fund.

ACCEPTED the offer of the firm of Sanders and Sullivan to supply student athletic insurance for the coming year at a cost of $3,370.

AUTHORIZED appropriation of $600 for membership for the year in the California Junior College Association, and another $200 for a special research assessment requested by the association.

Dr. Hall pointed out that two members of the staff, Robert Fricke, assistant to the president, and Stuart Trebbe, counselor, are both participating in research work conducted at the University of California under auspices of the CJCA.

AWARDED a contract to Craftsman Printers for printing of the student newspaper "The Norseman" for the coming year at a cost of $179.08, for 2,500 copies weekly.

APPROVED claims totaling $314,770.15, including the $300,000 transfer from the general to special reserve funds.

ASKED the "landlord", Campbell Union (elementary) School District, to readvertise for bids for painting and re-roofing portions of the buildings on the temporary Campbell site, which were constructed after the passage of the Field Act of the engineer's structural report.

Nurses remain on job

Campbell Community Hospital nurses are expected to remain on the job in the face of the threatened mass walk-out Wednesday of Bay area nurses.

According to Elton Admire, Campbell administrator, no resignations have been offered by the local nurses and no problems are anticipated in the near future.

The local Campbell hospital has been of a non-profit status since March 4, 1966. Approximately 56 registered nurses are employed at the Campbell Community hospital with 30 on a full-time basis. The other 26 work varying shifts from one to four days a week.

AIRMAN OSMOND GOES TO MICHIGAN

TOUCH OF COMEDY--Jan McCall, who plays Meg Brookie, and Bob Gunter, portraying Jeff Douglas, in Campbell High School District's "Brigadoon", practice a few grimaces for the show.

Local students present summer play

To complicate the situation the two men have become attached to a couple of young ladies which makes the decision of staying or leaving a difficult one. Taking part in the production will be Julie Gable of Westmont High as "Fiona" with Mark Ebner portraying her loving counterpart, "Tommy Albright". Other leads include

Hula lessons and poi promise gala evening

Flaming-like torches will lead the way to an authentic luau for guests and members of The Campbell Garden Club in the lovely gardens of Mrs. Katsumi Takanaga of 860 Monica Ln. in Campbell.

The committee in charge of the social affair, to take place on Aug. 13 at 6:30 p.m., have announced entertainment by the Lokilani Group, singers and dancers from Maui, and dances by the Natalie Vargas group.

Hula lessons and films of Hawaiian birds will also be enjoyed by the guests.

Printed Hawaiian menus will list fillet of sea bass, pork, chicken, yams wrapped in ti leaves, lami lami salad, island poi and fresh pineapple.

The ladies in charge are Mesdames Lillian Brannon, chairman and club president, Hazel Falconi, Geneva McConoughey, Takanaga, Elsie Brothers and Minnie Snyder.

Orchids will be flown in from Hawaii, and a door prize will be given. Reservations given. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Falconi, 378-2598.

School Club presents check

The board of trustees of the Moreland School District recently accepted a check for $725 from the Amber Drive Home and School Club. The donation is to be used for library books, as requested by teachers, for the Amber Drive School library.

Mrs. Norma J. France, 1965-66 home and school club president, presented the check, which should buy about 200 books. Roy Simmons is principal of the school.

Meet in S. F.

About 200 members of the two Campbell congregations of Jehovah's witnesses and their friends are attending a five-day convention at Candlestick Park in San Francisco, Aug. 3-7.

Sam Pavone, presiding minister of the South Campbell congregation, said that all the local congregations in the western states are expected to have representatives in San Francisco.

"In most cases, the entire congregation will go," Pavone said, "and this will require suspension of our local services for the next two weeks."

Dr. Wilbanks to head new office for Moreland

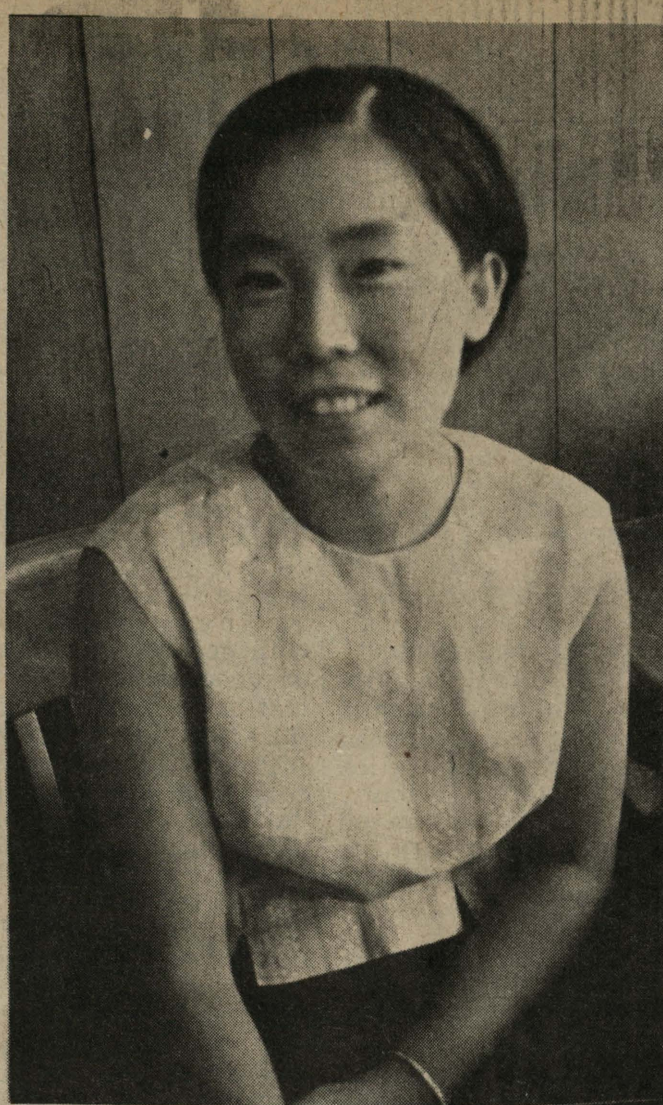

Dr. John C. Wilbanks, former Assistant Superintendent of Schools of Barstow, Calif., has been appointed to the new position of Director of Administrative Services for the Moreland School District. Dr. Wilbanks will assume major responsibility in the areas of personnel, federal aid to education and district research.

Wilbanks received his doctorate in 1954 from University of Southern California. His previous teaching experience has been in Pasadena and Barstow schools.

Dr. Wilbanks and his wife, Helen Louise, have three children, a son, 19, and two daughters, 16 and 14.

KYU OK LEE - from Korea

Korean lass arrives in Campbell for visit

Kyu Ok Lee, a shy Korean girl of 17 from Seoul, is living a great adventure. Arriving in Campbell last week after a long journey over the northern polar route and then by bus from Philadelphia, Kyu found a warm welcome at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Gaddis, 3707 Century Drive.

Miss Lee is one of over 200 overseas students who will live in this country for a year under the sponsorship of the International Christian Youth Exchange Program.

Sponsored locally by the First Methodist Church of Campbell, Kyu will attend Campbell Union High School during the coming year. At present her class status is a little uncertain, but she will be in either the junior or senior class.

While Kyu is representing her country in the United States, a young adult, Scott Miller of Sunnyvale Methodist Church was going to Germany to live as her counterpart under the ICYE program. The ratio of foreign students is approximately 2 to 1 for every American student going abroad.

The purpose of the interdenominational exchange is to provide opportunities for young people of different countries to live in a different environment and culture for a time.

During this time, usually of a year's length, the exchange students live with a family, go to school, attend church and participate in the culture and Christian life of another country, enabling them to return to their own nation and culture with a deeper understanding of what it means to live as a Christian.

This is the third year that the Campbell Methodist Church has participated in the program. Kyu is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Ki Sub Lee of Seoul and Sokcho, Korea.

A member of Sung Kwang Presbyterian Church in Seoul, she leaves two brothers and two sisters at home. Kyu hopes to follow her father's footsteps and become a doctor.

While in Campbell she will reside in the Gaddis home and become a part of the Gaddis family which includes Mary, a senior at Campbell High, Jim, a freshman at Campbell and Nancy, who attends Hazelwood School.

Shortly after her arrival in Campbell she participated in the family vacation and saw more of this vast new country. She looks forward to visiting Disneyland before very long.

Mrs. Gaddis stated that Kyu was an expert at Korean folk dance and art, and perhaps, by the time next summer arrives, she will have taught her Korean dances to Jim and Mary--and they in turn can teach her the latest American teen-age dance.

Miss Mary Beyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Beyer and a Campbell High graduate, will return to Campbell the last part of August after spending a year in St. Gallen, Switzerland under the 1965-66 ICYE program sponsored by the First Methodist Church of Campbell.

Concert ends music program

Parents and friends are cordially invited to attend the "Making Music Together" concert presented by 358 students of the 1966 Summer Music Program at the Campbell Elementary School cafeteria, this evening, Aug. 3, at 7:30. This summer music program has been under the direction of Ed Tonini.

Campbell Elementary School District offers a challenging program for those students interested in rapid progress in learning a musical instrument. As much as a half-year's progress is made in five weeks of daily classes, individual help, orchestra, band and ensemble participation.

Instruction is given on all orchestra and band instruments, furnished by the students. Recently 308 participating youngsters were transported to San Francisco in a supervised group to see The Ice Follies of 1966.

State Senator Clark Bradley gives report on legislation

By Clark L. Bradley
State Senator
On July 7 the marathon election-year session of the State Legislature came to a grinding end.

To say the least, even most of the "Lame Ducks" by then were ready to call it quits. The budget was finally adopted on June 30, the last day of the fiscal year, which set another record as to our knowledge no budget had ever been adopted at such a late date.

The budget goes into effect the first day of the new fiscal year, and in this case the ink was hardly dry when it went into effect at 12:01 a.m. July 1, the next day.

In retrospect, the legislature doesn't have too much to show for being in session from the first Monday in February to the seventh of July. However, one thing came to light which could very well be a forerunner of coming events as a result of reapportionment.

This relates to a bill introduced in the assembly several months ago setting up a new procedure for taking revenues from oil royalties received by the state from tide-lands, and setting up a capital outlay reservoir for school construction that hopefully would take the place of the bonds that we now vote on every two years to assist school districts in financial distress.

We voted on and adopted such a bond issue at the June primary election amounting to some 275 millions of dollars. This bill would be highly desirable as it would eliminate bond issues for this purpose and place future financial needs on a pay as you go basis.

The bill was amended on the Senate side and passed without opposition in the Senate; upon the bill going back to the assembly for concurrence in Senate amendments. Speaker Unruh proceeded to amend the bill in free conference to provide that some nine million dollars of this tideland money was to be diverted to the Los Angeles area rapid transit district as an outright grant - not a loan.

With 31 assemblymen in the assembly from Los Angeles County alone, it was not difficult to get an additional 10 votes to concur in this raid on the state's revenues and send the concurrence report to the Senate for approval some two and one-half hours before adjournment.

Five "No" votes were mustered on the Senate floor against this assembly "raider" and gift of public funds, but concurrence was obtained in the Senate and the bill by now has undoubtedly been signed by Governor Brown.

I frankly predict that with both the Senate and the Assembly now being elected in the same manner, and with 16 state senators representing Los Angeles County in the Senate next year, there will be similar instances of sectionalism prevailing in making raids on the general fund of the State of California.

As soon as possible, although this may take some time, reapportionment and election of the Senate must go back to the old system to protect the taxpayers of this state and to prevent bossism in the state capitol.

SOCIAL SECURITY

Questions and Answers

Q. I was 71 last April. I was turned down for benefits before because I had not worked under social security long enough to qualify. Can I get benefits under the new law?

A. No. You need six quarters of coverage to qualify for monthly payments. You can qualify for hospital benefits, though, since you are 65. Check with your social security district office soon so your eligibility can be established.

Q. My husband died in 1951 and only had three quarters of coverage. Can I qualify for benefits as his widow under the new law?

A. Yes, if you are 72 years old and don't get benefits on your own record.

Q. My child will be 18 next year. He plans to continue in school. Will his benefits continue?

A. Yes, provided he is taking a full-time course in an approved school. Practically all high schools and colleges are approved. Get in touch with us a month or two before he is 18 and let us know that he will be in school.

Q. I am over 65 but have never filed a claim for social security retirement benefits since I earn too much. Will I automatically be eligible for health insurance benefits?

A. No, you must file a claim. Visit a social security district office and bring your social security number, an estimate of your earnings for 1965, and some old documentary evidence to show how old you are.

ON CAPITOL HILL

with "Charlie" Gubser

ON CAPITOL HILL NOTE: Recently I loaned my Congressional Intern, Mr. Douglas Bosco of Sunnyside, to the "Cornerstone Project" in New York to observe operation of the City's Poverty Program. This week's ON CAPITOL HILL is an account of his two-week experience. CSG

The Bedford-Stuyvesant area of New York is one of America's ghettos. Until about 30 years ago it was a neighborhood of millionaires. Then wealthy Negroes began settling there and some residents reacted by moving out. The vacancies created were filled by low-income minority groups and the once fashionable area deteriorated to become one of the Nation's worst slums. The sweltering streets are filled with children because there are no recreational facilities, no pools and only one park for thousands of youngsters. Garbage is thrown in the small front yards. Dope addiction is noticeable everywhere, even to the untrained observer, and crime is rampant. (Juvenile crime rose 150% in the last 10 years.) Family life has deteriorated because aid-to-dependent-children payments are increased if the father is absent and sometimes two or three families live together to minimize the high rents exacted by white landlords. (Often rent for a 3-room apartment takes 50% of a welfare check.)

Twenty-three per cent of all births are illegitimate. The unemployment rate is double that for the rest of the Nation and more and more of the under-skilled are losing their jobs. Prices go up in neighborhood grocery stores on the 1st and 16th of each month when the welfare checks are issued.

Mrs. Green, whom I met at the Area Services Office of New York City and visited in her apartment, is typical of many sad cases in the Bedford-

Stuyvesant section. She is a large woman who is sick with heart trouble, diabetes and asthma and rarely leaves her sickbed except for visits to the welfare office.

Her apartment is one of the many cold-water flats that characterize the area. The walls are crumbling, electrical fixtures dangle from bare wires and one can see plaster and paint from the ceiling mixed with dirt on the floor. Beside Mrs. Green's bed was a large hammer.

She explained that the rats come up through the floor and the walls and she "knocks 'em out" when they come too close.

The Poverty Program has helped very little and most residents consider it a farce. Rev. William A. Jones, Jr., Chairman of the Board of Youth in Action (a program designed to help young people), expressed concern over the quality and experience of program administrators, some of whom receive salaries up to $20,000 a year and are living higher than they ever have or probably ever will again.

"The program has opened the floodgates for those who otherwise would not have a job," he says. Timmy Vinson, a leader of Youth in Action, says, "The Poverty Program is complete confusion, from President Johnson down to the man on the street."

The mood in Bedford-Stuyvesant is dangerous. Young people in particular are frustrated, impatient and angry. Carlos Russell, a youth leader in the area and a member of Mayor Lindsay's Council Against Poverty, told me, "We are tired of peaceful methods."

The time has come to fight in the streets. Even if we die we have nothing to lose, and we might take a few whites with us." I could tell that he meant it, too.

Boy's State participants report to American Legion

West Valley Post 158 of the American Legion recently enjoyed a pot luck dinner and had as its guests Allen Brian Shimizu of Campbell High School and Brick McIntosh from Saratoga High, the boys sponsored by 158 to attend Boys' State this last June in Sacramento.

Boys' State Chairman Charles W. Graw introduced them, and they presented their parents to the gathering. The Auxiliary Girls' State Chairman, Elinor Ambrosini, then introduced the Misses Penny Kooper of Los Gatos High, Ann Hilgers of Saratoga High, and Marcia Marie Weber of Campbell High, who attended Girls' State.

All five told of their experiences, and gave interesting reports on the doings of young people's "go" at State Government. This is just one of the post's and auxiliary's youth activities, and their testimonies prove it a very worth-while venture.

Commander Antonio A. Storti presented Past Commander Rex A. Kaber with a Past Commander's button. Past Commander Kaber has just finished two years as head of the post.

In the very near future Post 158 will present the cub pack sponsored by the Home and School Club of the Ruby D. Howes Ele-

C-M PONY loses tourney

Three home-runs by Santa Cruz (including one when the bases were loaded) proved the undoing of the Campbell-Moreland entry in the district Pony League tourney in Felton Sunday.

Campbell-Moreland lost 9-8. Five runs scored by Santa Cruz, four from a grand slam by Marty Gilbert, was just too much to overcome.

The C-M team in the morning won the first game 7-3 from previously undefeated Santa Cruz. In this game Steve Hosler smacked a homer.

In Saturday's contest the C-M Ponies knocked out Santa Clara 16-0 with Steve Hosler, Joey Avilla and Steve Stanford all connecting for home-runs while Mark Ramos was pitching two-hit ball.
